Driver admits to causing deaths

BY LUCY ROSS-MILLAR and ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A DRIVER has admitted causing the death of a 13-year-old boy and his grandfather on the A1307 near Linton.

Paul Bell, of North Crescent, Steeple Bumpstead, pleaded guilty at Cambridge Crown Court on Tuesday to two counts of causing death by careless or inconsiderate driving.

Joshua Bysouth and 66-year-old Michael Kidd, both of Stanleys Farm Road, Saffron Walden, died at the scene of the crash on September 18 last year, which happened at the junction between Bartlow and Balsham.

Bell, 47, spoke only to confirm his name and offer his pleas, showing no emotion as the charges were read out.

He was driving his silver Audi A3 on the A1307 when it collided with Mr Kidd's blue Hyundai Getz shortly after 12.30pm.

Both grandfather and grandson were pronounced dead at the scene, while Bell was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital in a critical condition.

Working together to raise the profile

MAYOR'S VIEW

by Cllr Pat Hanlon, mayor of Haverhill

I HOPE you all had a lovely holiday season, have recharged your batteries and like me you're raring to go and keep up the fight for better health care for our town. Your town council will continue to campaign for the £1.2m taken from Haverhill healthcare by NHS Suffolk to be reinvested in better care for the local community.

As your mayor I have the honour of being a representative of Haverhill and do everything I can to put the town on the map.

I must say, though, that there are two people that have done more to raise our profile than I could ever do in a year as mayor – Gillian and Adrian Bayford, our lucky EuroMillions winners. I watched their news conference and, even though I had lots of calls from the TV and news media, I could not have put Haverhill on the map any better than they did.

I don't know them but from what I saw and heard they seem a lovely couple.

Since returning from my holiday I see that the borough councillors on their planning committee have voted for 91 houses to be built on the former football ground they own at Hamlet Croft – despite objections from the town council and residents about the risk of flooding, the sewage system and the increase in traffic.

The town council was not against a housing scheme, in fact the town council's planning committee welcome housing, especially low-cost housing. It is disappointing, though, that our concerns weren't addressed before permission was given.

I see yet again that A-level and GCSE students have excelled at our two excellent academies, Castle Manor and Samuel Ward. As an invigilator at one of them I see how hard the students work during their exams, so well done to you all!

I would also like to congratulate Madeleine Vigar, Howard Lay and all the staff for their hard work.

I see that Samuel Ward have successfully applied to have a much-needed Special Free School for a maximum 70 pupils in their grounds, to be called The Churchill Special

High achievers: some of the many pupils celebrating GCSE success at Samuel Ward and Castle Manor academies.

Free School.

I am the chairman of Haverhill Autism Support Group, and our members have children with high functioning Autism and Asperger's who go to mainstream schools. Some find this too stressful, so the Churchill School and the expertise it will have will be just right for them.

Please don't forget the mayor's charity this year, the National Autistic Society (Suffolk). If you and/or your business can help with raffle prizes, money or anything else, please contact the town council, telephone 01440 712858 or email admin@towncouncil.haverhill-uk.com.

Because of the holidays I haven't been as busy representing the town of Haverhill in August.

But as this column goes to press I will be at the opening of Little Wonders Pre-School in the grounds of Westfield School, at the Queen's Awards for Enterprise 2012 Moonhall Business Park, and at Mid Suffolk District Civic Service in Stowmarket.

Tenants are invited to find out how to make 'bid' for a home

FREE training sessions on finding a new home and avoiding the pitfalls of modern living are being offered by a housing group.

The topics will be covered in sessions from affordable housing provider Havebury Housing, which tenants of its 6,000 homes in west Suffolk and parts of Cambridgeshire are invited to attend the courses.

Chief executive Karen Mayhew explained that the first course will be Homelink – How to Bid for a Home.

She said: "Homelink is a service run by St Edmundsbury Borough Council that lets you 'bid' on a property if you want to move.

"The course will offer practical help and advice from the team that runs the service, teaching participants how the grading bands work and what they need to do to bid for a new property"

Homelink – How to Bid for a Home will be held on Thursday, September 13 from 2pm to 4pm at Haverhill Rovers, on Chalkstone Way.

Mrs Mayhew said: "Our second course is called How to Spot a Scam."

"This is a practical session run by the Citizens' Advice Bureau which identifies the latest scams and teaches you how to spot them."

How to Spot a Scam was held on Tuesday at The Kiln Café at the Malthouse Project in Risbygate Street, Bury St Edmunds.

Mrs Mayhew added: "We are firmly committed to providing as much training as possible for our tenants, to ensure that they are not made vulnerable by unscrupulous characters and to highlight the different property options available to them."

A charity and not-for-profit association, Havebury is dedicated to serving both the existing and future housing needs of people in west Suffolk and parts of Cambridgeshire.

To book onto one of the courses, call 0300 3300 900, and visit www.havebury.com for more information about the partnership.

Footballers supported by Subway

A SANDWICH shop has come out in support of sporty youngsters.

Subway, in Ehringhausen Way, Haverhill, will donate 10p from every one of their selected subs sold to Samuel Ward Academy's youth football team.

The school will be able to decide how they want to use the money.

Howard Lay, principal of Samuel Ward Academy, said: "We'll be using the funds to invest in the newest sports equipment for the students to complement our new sports complex."

"Samuel Ward Academy is a community school so all our students will really benefit from the support the Haverhill community gives us."

Raj Roa, of the Haverhill branch, said: "Sport plays an essential part in our community and we hope to help these kids get the things they need with everyone's support."

"Whatever we raise will go straight to the school, so the more support we get, the better it is for the kids."

The offer will run until the end of the current football season.

Eight-month order for imitation gun

A MAN was given an eight-month community order for carrying an imitation firearm. Scott Macleay, 29, of Sperling Drive, Haverhill, brandished a black BB handgun on the B1106 road near Brandon on June 26, West Suffolk Magistrates' Court heard. Macleay appeared at the court again on Tuesday for assessment of a drug rehabilitation component of an earlier suspended sentence. He was given the eight-week prison term on August 7, suspended for one year, after he admitted a burglary at Brandon, between June 2 and June 27, stealing a gold ring worth more than £500, and at Haverhill, on July 14 stealing a satellite navigation system, a watch worth £223 and a key from a car.

Ministerial role for Haverhill MP

HAVERHILL MP Matthew Hancock has been promoted to a ministerial position during David Cameron's cabinet reshuffle on Tuesday. Mr Hancock will take on the role of Joint Parliamentary Undersecretary for the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills and the Department for Education, alongside his constituency role. He said: "I passionately believe in the importance of turning around our economy, helping businesses create jobs, and improving skills and apprenticeships."

Firearm charge case is adjourned

A 26-YEAR-OLD man from Haverhill has been charged with possession of an imitation firearm in a public place. Timothy Clark, of Bloomsfield Road, appeared at West Suffolk Magistrates Court on Tuesday. The case was adjourned until September 25. The charge follows an alleged incident at the junction between Dovehouse Road and Wratting Road, Haverhill on Friday.

Travellers told to remove camp

TRAVELLERS occupying land on the edge of Haverhill have been issued with an eviction notice. The encampment sprang up close to a children's playground on land off Bergamot Road and consists of around six caravans and 10 other vehicles. Will Austin, Haverhill town clerk, said the county council's traveller liaison team confirmed a notice was issued on Tuesday demanding the removal of the makeshift camp by Thursday morning.

Health concerns

A NEW working party has been formed to look at healthcare provision in Haverhill. Two councillors from each party will meet patient groups to discuss concerns.

Market and sale

A FARMERS market will be held on Sunday at the Memorial Social Centre in Cemetery Road, Wickhambrook. There will also be a car boot sale. The event lasts from 10am until 1pm and free tea and coffee will be available.

Grand opening for Little Wonders school

PARENTS and children attended the grand opening a new pre-school building on Tuesday.

Little Wonders pre-school moved from Manor Road, Haverhill, to a bigger site next to Westfield Primary School on Chalkestone Way.

Committee chair Tony Jordan said the new premises can now cater for 28 children aged 2 to 4 years old, with two sessions each day.

Haverhill Mayor Pat Hanlon cut the ribbon whilst kids got a taste of the new facilities, such as a toy kitchen, playground and nature garden.

Mum Dawn Savage, of Yeldham Place, brought her 3-year-old daughter Jessica along who starts at Little Wonders today.

She said: "As soon as we arrived she was off playing with the other kids and exploring. It's great to have a place like this where they can go and it will give me a bit more time as I have another baby on the way."

Towing could solve illegal car parking

TOWING away illegally parked cars was one suggestion made by councillors to solve the problem on the High Street.

Residents attending the meeting of Haverhill Town Council on Tuesday expressed anger at the problem which is making life in the town a misery.

Steve Lomas, of the Parkway Estate, said he was appalled that police crackdowns were having no effect and they should take the matter more seriously.

He said: "People parking on the High Street are committing a civil disobedience."

"Sometimes I have been walking along the pavement and someone in a car will tell me to get off the pavement so they can park."

Parking is permitted on the High Street for registered blue badge holders but Mr Lomas said some were being misused.

Cllr Clive Turner said there was a "selfish minority" who parked their cars illegally.

He suggested a scheme that had been run in St Ives where an out of town towing company would turn up at random and remove any illegally parked cars over a 24-hour period.

Cllr Maureen Byrne agreed with the

BY LIZZY BUCHAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

principle but said she did not want to bring in a scheme that would cost the taxpayer more money.

She said: "This town is not going to be more attractive until we get rid of illegally parked cars."

"This has been going on for 25 years and it is still on the agenda."

Other proposals included putting up a bollard at the end of the street to prevent cars driving down.

Councillors said pedestrianisation between 10-4pm every day would solve the problem of illegal parking more effectively than requiring a constant police presence.

Current regulations forbid cars from driving up and down the High Street between 10am and 4pm Monday to Saturday.

Town Mayor Pat Hanlon said the people of Haverhill supported pedestrianisation with a petition where 70 per cent of people were in favour.

The council voted to try to achieve pedestrianisation of the High Street by 2015.

At the end of the hearing, Judge Anthony Bate told Bell: "You must co-operate with the probation service and return for sentence on October 5."

The defendant was granted bail until that date.

Last year's tragedy led to renewed calls from the local community for changes to be made to the A1307 to make it safer, with campaigners claiming a project by highways chiefs in 2008 which encouraged motorists to "Slow Down, Stay Aware and Stay Alive" had not done enough.

Calls for improvements continue, including installation of roundabouts, reducing speed limits to 40mph and introducing more speed cameras.

In a statement released by Joshua's mother Tracy Bysouth, she said the family would make further comment after the sentencing hearing next month.

Meanwhile, Joshua's former school friends from Saffron Walden County High School have set the target of raising £10,000 to adopt and train a cocker spaniel puppy – named Josh – so he can become a medical detection dog.

Mascots: Owen and Aiden, being held by mum Vicky, at the Cambridge United match against Southport last month.

Dream come true for Aiden and Owen

A TWO-year-old who was born with cerebral palsy got to live his dream by acting as a mascot for a local football team.

Aiden Thomas and his twin brother Owen acted as mascots for Cambridge United for their match against Southport on August 18.

The moment was particularly poignant as Aiden, who was born 10 weeks early, was diagnosed with a form of cerebral palsy called bilateral spastic hemiplegia last year.

Mum Vicky Thompson, of Sperling Drive in Haverhill, said: "They got the boys out with the team and Aiden got a nice round of applause when he walked out onto the pitch.

"We were made to feel very special while we were there. They loved it as they are typical little boys, any opportunity to kick or throw a ball and they will."

Cambridge United contacted the family to offer the boys the chance to be mascots after a bucket collection was held there for the charity.

Aiden recently underwent life changing surgery in St Louis Children's Hospital in Missouri, which has allowed him to walk with sticks or a walking frame.

Vicky and her husband Gareth Thomas set up the charity Aiden's Footsteps last year which has raised more than £33,000 to pay for his treatment and care.

Unfortunately Aiden's NHS

physiotherapy sessions have been reduced to one a week despite recommendations that he receive four or five sessions per week.

Vicky said she was "disappointed" by the change and the couple have to pay for a private physiotherapist which costs £55 per hour.

She said: "We have applied for Aiden to attend the Footsteps Centre in Oxford which offers physiotherapy.

"A three-week intensive course at Footsteps is expensive, however we feel that some intensive blocks of physio will benefit Aiden and help to improve his confidence. We will be continuing fundraising."

Council bids to take on centre

TWO groups have put in a bid for a multi-use building connected to the library in Haverhill.

Haverhill Town Council has confirmed it would like to take over running of the Burton Centre, in Camps Road, which was previously used as a youth centre.

Councillors voted unanimously to put forward a proposal at a meeting of the full council on Tuesday.

Will Austin, Haverhill town clerk, said: "It would be an extension of the town council's activities at the arts centre to use the Burton Centre for the community."

He said the library would remain in its current form indefinitely as a condition of the county council's handover.

Town councillors raised concerns about some of the information provided

BY LIZZY BUCHAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk about the centre's running costs but were informed more information would be provided.

The other bidder is St Nicholas Hospice Care, based in Bury St Edmunds.

A spokeswoman for the organisation confirmed it was exploring options for The Burton Centre and Haverhill as a whole because the hospice is keen to increase its presence in the local community.

She said: "We have wonderful support for our services from the community in Haverhill and we know there is need for more end-of-life care in the local area."

Barbara Gale, chief executive of St Nicholas Hospice Care, said: "We want to support more patients and families with life-shortening illness in their own home or community.

"We are currently exploring if we could use the Burton Centre to bring some of hospice services closer to the people of Haverhill.

"We are keen to work with other groups in the area, too, and welcome conversations with anyone who would like to work with us.

"Discussions are currently in the very early stages, but we hope we will be able to provide care and support where people need us."

Suffolk County Council confirmed it had two interested parties and it would proceed after receiving the bids on September 25.

A spokesman for the county council said: "The most important thing for us is keeping the Burton Centre in use as the important community centre it is now."

Meeting will set priorities

RESIDENTS are invited to a public meeting about policing in the area.

Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) is holding a priority setting meeting on Monday at Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College, off Chalkstone Way. Members of the public can discuss any concerns with a member of the local team and hear what is happening in the area. The meeting starts at 7pm.

Single blow leads to year's jail term

A MAN who carried out an unprovoked attack that left his victim with a fractured cheekbone has been jailed for a year.

Adam Szwczak, 27, had been at a cocktail bar with friends before he launched the assault in Haverhill early on November 11 last year.

The victim, Matthew Thacker, had his cheekbone fractured by a single blow to the face. He needed two operations to repair it.

He also suffered bruising and swelling to his face, Ipswich Crown Court heard.

Simon Gladwell, prosecuting, said that earlier Mr Thacker had been with three other men at Bar-Vu in Haverhill to say goodbye to a friend who was leaving.

Inside the bar a verbal altercation took place involving a group of 10 men. Mr Thacker was not among them.

Mr Gladwell told the court that shortly after 2am Mr Thacker and his friends were walking back to their parked car when they became aware of 10 men standing nearby.

The men were from the same group that had been inside Bar-Vu, said Mr Gladwell, and they began repeatedly shouting abuse at Mr Thacker and his friends.

The court heard the victim and the others with him tried to ignore the abuse but one man came over and stood just two feet from Mr Thacker, who pushed him away with his open palms.

Shortly afterwards, Szwczak, of Harewood Terrace, Haverhill, ran across the road and struck Mr Thacker in the face before walking away.

Mr Gladwell said that no-one in the victim's group had done anything to provoke the assault.

The court heard that the incident was captured on CCTV and resulted in Szwczak being arrested.

Mr Thacker needed operations to insert metal plates in his face and still suffers ongoing problems as a result of the incident, said Mr Gladwell.

Andrew Shaw, mitigating, said Szwczak now realised that what he had done was entirely wrong and he regretted his actions.

He added Szwczak, who has no previous convictions, had been with a group of friends and acted out of character.

Szwczak had pleaded guilty to an offence of unlawful wounding.

Jailing him, Judge John Holt said the offence was so serious that he could not suspend the sentence.

Safe and cash stolen in shop burglary

POLICE are appealing for information after thieves broke into a shop and made off with a safe containing cash.

The incident happened between 5.20pm on Thursday, August 30, and 8.45am on Friday, August 31, in a shop, on Queen's Street in Haverhill.

The rear fire door was forced open to gain entry and the safe was taken which police believe contained a small amount of money.

A filing cabinet was also prised open but nothing else was removed from the premises.

A police spokeswoman said: "We are appealing for information from anyone who was in the area around that time who might have seen something."

If you have any information please call Suffolk Police on 101 or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

No ambulance, so no thanks!

Sir, I am writing in response to your article regarding the NHS cuts and poor service.

I recently had to be rushed to hospital twice in one week, the first time the paramedic came he was wonderful. He tried to phone for an ambulance to take me but could not get one, so he had to take me himself, which he was not supposed to do.

And then less than a week later, I was taken ill again. My daughter phoned for an ambulance three times and all they kept saying was someone will call you back and asking if my symptoms were life threatening. How on earth would she know? She is not a doctor! In the end her partner had to take me, which he did not want to do as I was in agony.

Fortunately, I recovered – no thanks to the NHS – but am very nervous that it will happen again, as I have an ongoing condition.

First mobility shop will open

Sir, I am writing in response to Mrs L Horobin (Letters, August 30).

If all goes according to plan, I intend to open Haverhill's first mobility shop in Queens Square towards the end of October. The shop possibly would have been open a lot sooner, if the rent and rates were not so high in the High Street.

Once we are open, we will offer a selection of mobility and homecare aids, scooters, riser recliners and servicing and repairs. I hope it will be supported by the local people.

We're grateful for all of your help

Sir, We would like to express our most sincere thanks to all those who donated items for the Mayor's charity car boot sale last Sunday and to those who came and helped on the day.

Maureen Byrne was star of the show, keeping tabs on all the money and Hilary arrived at 6.30am with armfuls of warm muffins and crisps for us to sell – of course they needed testing first. Ian, Roger, Steve, Keith, David, Ed and Valerie worked continuously keeping cars in order and selling goods. We are hugely grateful to you all. It is very challenging raising charity funds at this time and we collected a total of £584.36 from the event.

Tim and Margaret Marks

Family pub will be part of new research park

A FAMILY pub and restaurant has won a bid for a site in the new research park.

Marston's Inns and Taverns has bought the site and plans to submit proposals for a pub in Haverhill Research Park, a 30-acre site which will open in spring 2013.

The park will eventually include 450,000 square feet of office space and research accommodation, as well as leisure facilities, in a bid to create a similar development to the Science Park in Cambridge.

Mike West, manager of Marston's Inns and Taverns Estates, said: "This is an exciting time for us.

"We are the only pub company that is embarking on such a large programme of quality, family-focussed new-build pubs.

"The Haverhill Research Park will be a great development when it's completed and we are pleased that we will be part of it."

The company said it intends to submit a planning application for the pub in the near future.

Cllr Anne Gower, cabinet member at St Edmundsbury Borough Council and chairwoman of One Haverhill, said: "I am delighted to see this investment in Haverhill by Marston's Inns and Taverns.

"Its decision to come to Haverhill will bring jobs and also provide a family friendly pub not only for the people who will be moving into the residential development on the site but also people from other parts of the town.

"Haverhill has been anticipating this development and this news makes it seem more real."

According to developers, Carisbrooke Investments, the park will provide up to 2,000 jobs and housing for around 350 people.

Contractors Taylor Wimpey East Anglia bought nine acres of residential land in July for a range of housing types, including a number of affordable homes.

Getting back on track: a week-long car rally will raise money for soldiers who have fallen on hard times.

Car wash set to help our heroes

A CHARITY car wash is being held to raise money for soldiers who have fallen on hard times.

Nico's Hand Car Wash, in Hamlet Green in Haverhill, will host the fundraiser on September 15 which kicks off at 8am until 4pm.

Glen Horscroft, who owns Anglia Training Services in Spring Rise, Haverhill, is hoping the car wash will help to raise funds for the 'Back on Track Rally' which he is organising in Easter 2013.

The week-long car rally will pass through France, Italy and Switzerland to raise money for Soldiers off the Streets.

Glen and his stepson Joshua took part in the 3,400-mile 'Rally for Heroes' in July and he said he has been bitten by the bug.

He said: "I like the idea of driving off somewhere new but also raising money for people who need it more than me.

"There are a huge number of soldiers who have come back from the war and hit hard times.

"I really hope we can help these people who do so much for us."

Glen and his fellow rally drivers hope to raise £1,000 each in sponsorship, with a total of £25,000 as 25 cars can enter.

If you would like to get involved in the rally go to www.backontrackrally.co.uk.

'No excuse for breaking limit'

ALMOST 1,000 drivers were caught speeding in Suffolk during a week-long enforcement campaign in the county.

Police officers caught 903 of the 967 motorists seen travelling too fast during the crackdown staged between Monday, August 20 and Sunday, August 26.

The remaining 64 were clocked by SafeCam cameras and fixed cameras during the campaign which saw roads policing officers and Suffolk Police's SafeCam vans deployed across the county to step up checks and enforcement.

Sgt Paul Ward of Suffolk Police's casualty reduction team said: "During the campaign our officers have been working hard to highlight the issue of speeding through enforcement and education and drivers should know that there is never an excuse for flouting the speed limit.

BY JENNIE BAKER

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"Campaigns such as this see a heightened concentration on those speeding in the county but our aim is to reduce the amount of casualties on Suffolk's roads throughout the year and we will continue to crackdown on those who drive at excessive speed."

Suffolk Police said there were 30 deaths in 28 fatal collisions on the county's roads last year and speeding was a contributory factor in six of the incidents.

The force added speeding was a factor in almost a third of the road deaths in Suffolk in 2010.

Sgt Ward said: "Thirty people were killed on Suffolk's roads last year and 20 in the previous year and the role speed plays in both fatal and serious road traffic collisions cannot be underestimated.

"The difference of a few miles per hour can mean the difference between life and death.

"The faster someone is driving, the less time they have to stop if something unexpected happens.

"The message is very simple - speed limits are there for a reason."

Suffolk Police said speeding was one of the 'fatal four' driving offences with drink driving, using a mobile phone and seatbelt offences. The enforcement campaign was led by TISPOL, the European Traffic Police Network.

Haverhill Townswomen's Guild:

There was a good attendance at the August meeting. The chairman gave a report on the condition of a member who attended a committee meeting but is due to have radiotherapy on Monday. The chairman also took a cheque for £150 raised at the recent quiz evening to Mr Poole who was very pleased and thanked everyone. Beautiful covered coat hangers made by Norma were on sale.

The chairman thanked all those guild members who had helped at the social studies evening and the car boot sale at the Big Bash.

Leisure reported that the proposed visit to Audley End House and the cost involved prohibited this. She gave details of several outings to the seaside by Whippet Coaches. At the handicrafts meeting was the making of bracelets etc with beads. Townswomen's magazines will be offered to doctors and dentists surgeries which was suggested by Mrs Ashby.

The chairman then introduced Christopher and Janet South whose topic was 'Pictures without a camera'. They told amusing stories about their holidays around the world to use the imagination.

A collection was made for the girls school in India, where a pupil was training to be a doctor.

The next meeting will be on September 25 with speaker Ms Steer on the topic of 'Travel Talk'.

Guests and new members will be sure of a warm welcome at the West End Hall, Withersfield Road at 7.15pm on the fourth Tuesday of each month. Ring chairman Mrs Hampson on 01440 714730 for further details.

He was the rural poet of Weston Colville and Fordham.

There were talks by Mike Petty MBE and Dr Ronald Blythe FRSL, DLitt about J R Withers and John Clare, then tea followed by Evensong with readings from the poems.

West Wickham

BIG village dig: West Wickham and District Local History Club has a wonderful opportunity to find out about the origins of the village.

The club has put in an application for a grant from the Heritage Lottery Fund - All Our Stories. The BBC, the Heritage Lottery Fund and universities across the UK have teamed up to help people find out more about their history. In this case, Cambridge.

Community Heritage has the expertise of archaeological staff to support them in carrying out 20-30 one-metre square archaeological test pits throughout the village. For this the club will need the help of villagers.

There are numerous ways villagers can help: in their own garden with family and friends; offer their garden for someone to do the work; lend equipment; take photographs or report on Facebook or Twitter.

The assigned university researcher is Britt Baillie-Warren, who by happy coincidence has just moved into the village.

The club will not know if their application is successful until the end of October but Janet Morris wants to hear from those interested. Call (01223) 290863 or jmmorris@jmmorris.plus.com.

■ BUS survey: Cambridgeshire Future Transport (CFT) short questionnaire, in partnership with the parish council, was delivered with the village magazine.

Businesses set to learn lesson

BUSINESS people will be able to find out about plans for a new special school in Haverhill this month.

June McNaughton, a governor at Samuel Ward Academy who helped to co-ordinate the bid for The Churchill Free School, will address a meeting organised by business website bestofhaverhill on Tuesday, September 18.

Elaine Carr, owner of thebestofhaverhill, said: "The opening of a free school offering special educational needs provision in Haverhill may not seem like a relevant topic for local businesses.

"However I believe

BY LIZZY BUCHAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

there are some interesting lessons to be learned from the way Samuel Ward Academy approached this project, lessons that can be applied to our businesses.

The Samuel Ward Academy Trust was given the green light to build a school for up to 70 children with special needs by the Department for Education in May.

The school plans to open its doors in September 2013 with 15-20 children, aged between 8 and 18, but it will gradually expand to hold up to 70 pupils.

Elaine said the reason the bid was successful was the team found a need in the community and worked hard to find a way to meet it.

She said: "I think they are a shining example of what can be achieved with the right attitude.

"I am looking forward to hearing about the bid process and the benefits this new school will bring to Haverhill families."

The meeting will be held at The Days Inn, in Haverhill Business Park.

Kyle is star of talent show to take top prize

YOUNGSTERS took their turn in the limelight at the finals of a Kids Got Talent contest at Haverhill Leisure Centre.

Auditions were held throughout the summer, with youngsters invited to join in.

The successful acts took part in the final of the event on Friday.

Although 10 made it through to the finals, only six turned up, with 7-year-old break-dancer Kyle Batterby taking home the trophy, singer Chelsea Pordage, 11, second, plus gymnast Lily Newton, 10, and singer Ella Walker, 12, joint third.

Sally Bradley, of Kids City at Haverhill Leisure Centre, said: "There was a big audience as we had a day camp on and so all the day campers came along and cheered them on."

She said judges from the day camp decided on the winners but could not pick between gymnast Lily and singer Ella so they were awarded joint third place.

Sally added: "Everyone had a great day."

Another opportunity to apply for funds

COMMUNITY groups have got a second chance to apply for up to £5,000 of funding for projects to help Haverhill people.

Applications for the special grant pot must demonstrate clear plans, how they will measure effectiveness and how the money will make a difference.

The deadline for submissions is Monday, October 8.

The first round of grants was awarded earlier in the year from the funds given to local organisation ONE Haverhill for distribution by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Anne Gower, chairwoman of One Haverhill said: "We are really looking forward to seeing what projects in Haverhill need support and how they will benefit people in our town.

"I would urge all groups who think they have a project that fits the criteria to get in touch and apply for funding.

"You don't know until you try and we would be very pleased to answer any questions you may have on the application process which is very straightforward."

Application forms can be found at www.onehaverhill.co.uk.

Hundreds show full support to fayre with a countryside theme

SHEEPDOG displays and majorettes helped amuse visitors at a village's annual event.

The Thurlow Fayre on Sunday kept up its countryside theme, with Tom Longton with 20 years' experience of sheepdog handling as a main attraction.

A mix of music was provided by Glenmoriston Pipe Band, Hadstock Silver Band and Nice Manors Band and there was also a performance by the Fire and Ice majorettes at the Recreation Ground.

Children were entertained by Dangerous Steve Unicycle Juggler, the ever-popular Doc Spinoff Circus Skills, Reptile Experience, face painting, train rides, toddler rides and the thrills and spills of giant slide and bouncy castle.

Almost 1,700 people attended the fayre, where new features included a craft fair, classic car display, zorbing, a chance to try archery and a fun dog show.

Alan Loveday, one of the organisers, said: "The events were all really well received."

He said the archery was very popular following the Olympics, as many people were keen to try it out.

"We were really pleased with the day and all the support we got from people because it does require a lot of support from the village."

Girl's stalker told to stay out of area

A MAN who stalked a 13-year-old school-girl for six months has been given a restraining order banning him from the area around her home.

Nigel Proctor, of Girton Road in Haverhill, was sentenced on Monday at West Suffolk Magistrates' Court after he was found guilty of harassing the girl, at a previous hearing on August 2.

Proctor had pleaded not guilty to following the girl between March 31, 2011 and September 28, 2011.

But he was found guilty at Ipswich Magistrates' Court.

The 43-year-old was given a 12-month community order on Monday, including a supervision order, and 100 hours of unpaid work.

The restraining order, which will remain in place until a further order is imposed, limits him from any contact with the victim and prohibits him from entering a part of Haverhill or any of the surrounding streets where the victim walks to school.

Godfried Duah, prosecuting, said the girl noticed Proctor passing her in his car whilst she walked to school.

However, she was not worried by it until May 14 when she recognised him whilst in a hairdresser's on the High Street.

She started to notice him driving up and down outside her house and caught sight of him sat reading a newspaper in a street.

Mr Duah said Proctor followed the victim to school on September 19, speeding up as she tried to hurry away but always remaining a few metres behind her.

On September 28 she became very upset when she spotted him in Tesco and called the police who arrested him.

Mr Duah said: "Due to her age the court will be mindful that the impact on her might last as long as she lives."

Paul Cammiss, mitigating, said the defendant's elderly parents live on Lanseer Court so he often went that way to help care for them.

He must now take a different route on his way to visit them.

Mr Cammiss said during the previous hearing the girl had agreed Proctor had not actually followed her in Tesco on September 28 but had in fact been in the shop buying a newspaper before she arrived.

Mr Cammiss said Proctor never addressed the girl or committed any violence against her.

The defendant was also ordered to pay £300 in compensation to the victim and £150 in court costs.

Michelle has won her big challenges in life

Did these trousers really used to fit me?: Exercise-mad Michelle today with a pair of her old trousers. Picture: David Johnson 853446

Losing nine stones and getting fit were the next step for a mum-of-two who had already beaten stammering and breast cancer. From being obese at 25 stones, Michelle Bonfield has now become hooked on charity cycle rides, army assault courses and half marathons. Interview by EMMA HIGGINBOTHAM.

MICHELLE Bonfield sits back in her armchair and crosses her legs. "I could never sit like this before," she says with a smile. "My legs were too big. For an obese person, even simple things like crossing your legs, you just can't do."

"And I live in trousers now. Before I wouldn't wear trousers unless I really, really had to. Even during winter, people would say 'you've got a skirt on, but you've got no tights on!' And I'd be like 'oh, I don't need tights...' But I couldn't actually get them on."

Mum-of-two Michelle, who's 45, has turned her life around. In 2005, she weighed a hefty 25 stones. Today, after battling breast cancer – and then becoming hooked on challenges like charity cycle rides, army assault courses and half marathons – she's lost an incredible nine stones, and dropped eight dress sizes.

"Fashion-wise it's definitely made a difference because now I can go into what I call a 'normal' shop and buy a size 16 off the peg, whereas before it had to be Evans," she says. "I've got a skirt that was tight on me – and it's a size 32. I've saved it, just to remind myself. I'm not going back to that."

Originally from New Zealand, Michelle left home at 18 to go travelling. She worked as a nanny in the States for two years, "and then I arrived in England in 1987 with £33 to my name." She soon found work as a nanny in London and, when the family moved to Reed, near Royston, Michelle came too.

But life hasn't always been smooth. As a child, Michelle had a stammer that left her literally lost for words. "I still have a speech problem, but way back then it was 20 times as bad, to the point where I couldn't even say my name," she recalls. "As a child they thought I was actually deaf."

Growing up, the stammer began to control her life. "It was that bad that if I went into a shop and wanted a loaf of bread, and couldn't see it, I wouldn't ask for it – I would walk out. It was very embarrassing."

In her early 20s, Michelle decided to take action and went on a two-week live-in speech therapy course at Hitchin Hospital. "They basically took us right back to being a baby, and taught us how to speak again. It really helped me. I still have good days and bad days, but I know now how to control it."

At around the same time, Michelle met her future husband, Bob, in the local pub. To begin with they were just friends, but when Michelle – together with a friend from her speech course – invited Bob and a friend to play tennis, romance blossomed. They married in 1994: "And we haven't looked back, really." Baby Cameron arrived in 1997, followed by Rowena two years later.

The family settled in Barkway and, in 2003, Michelle began her bespoke laundry service, Wash Me

Iron Me. But 18 months later, a health scare threatened her fledgling business – and her life – when she found a lump on her breast.

"It was a Saturday afternoon, and I was sitting on the loo, and I just went 'Hmm, what's that?' It was only the third time I'd ever examined myself. I phoned the doctor's surgery on the Monday morning and said 'I think I've found a lump'. Within a month I was being operated on."

Michelle had a partial mastectomy, followed by seven months of chemotherapy, but refused to stop working. "Life had to go on," she shrugs. "I'm a workaholic, I know I am. Even in the hospital, waiting to have my operation, I was doing the staff wages."

"It's my way of dealing with it, and I think that got me through. You can mope around, but that's not me – I'm too much of a goer."

Being a 'glass-half-full' type of person helped too: "When I was going into Addenbrooke's for my checks, or for chemo, they were like 'you're always happy'. And I said 'there's no point being miserable: there's always someone worse off than me.'"

But one thing that did really get to her was being told that she couldn't have surgery to reconstruct her breast. "They said they wouldn't do it because my BMI was too high. My BMI at that time was 57.6. I was classed as morbidly obese. It got me really heated up."

Michelle has always struggled with her weight. As a self-confessed workaholic, she'd snatch food when she could – and it was seldom the right kind. "What did I eat before? Microwave meals and takeaways. And crisps. I could eat five packets of crisps a day, easily."

"I grabbed it on the run – I didn't physically sit down. I just ate rubbish, like donuts. Junk food, basically."

But during the chemo, Michelle made a decision: "I saw a photograph of me at a business awards, and I thought 'is that really me?' That decided me. I thought OK, let's move on."

Because of her illness, Michelle was fast-tracked to the Obesity Service at Addenbrooke's. "They were fantastic," she says. "I thought I was obese, but there are some enormous people. One day I had to take the children with me, because it was the school holidays, and Cameron came out crying. There was a lady in there who was in a wheelchair, she was that obese she couldn't walk, and that frightened him. He said 'Mummy, I don't want you to be like that.'"

Michelle's diet was extreme: "I was on four pints of milk a day, a stock cube for my salt, and tablets to help with my bowels. The only spoon that went into my mouth was a sugar-free jelly. It sounds disgusting, but for me it was easy because I'd just down my milk as I worked."

"You had to stay on that until you lost 10 per cent of your bodyweight. They gave you three months – I did it in seven weeks."

● Michelle is entering several cycle races next year – including the London to Brighton, London to Southend and London to Paris – in aid of the British Heart Foundation. To donate to her Just Giving page, visit www.justgiving.com/sweatforheart

Michelle was then able to introduce more foods, and was eventually signed off: "and now I eat five small, healthy meals a day. It could be cottage cheese, some nuts, a bit of fish. Sometimes I'll grab a slice of turkey and an apple, or a banana with some rice cakes. Done."

Does she miss the crisps? "No!" she laughs. "When I was in Addenbrooke's I said 'I'm going cold turkey on the crisps'. I really rarely have them now. I just see them as junk food."

But it's her new-found love of exercise that has really transformed Michelle – and it all began with a stroke of luck. Deciding to take part in a Royston fun run, in aid of Cancer Research, she discovered that the highest fundraiser was given 12 months' free gym membership at Royston Leisure Centre: "And that happened to be me!"

"I raised £1,400 through my Wash Me Iron Me clients – they were so supportive. So I won that, and I went to the gym." She had her first session four years ago: "and it gave me such a buzz. I'm still hooked! I could see the weight coming off, and I haven't looked back. I just love it – it's my drug."

Deadly serious about getting fit, Michelle took on a personal trainer, Gemma Burge: "and I'm so grateful to her because she got me into cycling. Three years ago she said 'All right Michelle, we're doing the London to Cambridge'. Well, give me a challenge and I will do it!" Michelle entered with a fit friend – and beat her by an hour. Since then she's done more cycle races, a half marathon and three tough army assault courses: "I absolutely love them," she grins. "In December I did the Grim Challenge, which is eight miles through mud, and it's fantastic."

Yet even though Michelle exercises almost every day, her weight isn't coming down any further. Do people ask her why she isn't smaller? "Yes they do, and I don't know why I'm not. They say weight loss is 80 per cent diet, 10 per cent exercise and 10 per cent your body make-up: well my mum was big – huge."

"But my argument is, there's a lot of rugby players out there who would count as obese, but it's muscle. And although my weight's not coming off, I've shrunk. It's all been toning."

The weight of her excess skin doesn't help: "I hate it – it makes me feel embarrassed. But I can't get a tummy tuck done on the NHS, again because my BMI is too high. You've got to maintain your BMI at the normal level for two years, which for me means losing another four stones. So I'll just keep plodding on and doing my exercises, and see what happens."

So what's her message to others who may have a weight problem? "I just feel, from a person who's been hugely overweight, that there's no reason not to do exercise," says Michelle. "It doesn't have to cost an arm and a leg. Go for a good walk to get your heart rate up, or buy a cheap bike. It's a chance to get out and meet different people – I went out cycling with a group of friends this weekend – or if you don't want to be among people, you don't have to be. I do workouts at home as well."

"I know what it's like: big people are self-conscious, and it can be off-putting when you walk into a gym and see all the body builder types. But they're the same as you and me."

"You will have to change your lifestyle to get the results – it'll be a marathon, not a sprint. But just get out and do it. It doesn't matter what size you are, you can exercise. You can do it."

Towns to continue learning together

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A COUNCIL leader has said he was seriously impressed by his visit to Haverhill which is part of the same government pilot scheme as his own.

Cllr Ron Ley, who is leader of Ilfracombe Town Council, paid his first-ever visit to the town and was shown around by Cllr Anne Gower, chairman of the One Haverhill Board, which is working with Haverhill Town Council on its community budget scheme planning.

The two towns are among only 12 chosen from across the country to pilot the government scheme, aimed to give local people more say on how their tax money is spent. Haverhill and Ilfracombe are the only two town council-led bids among those chosen.

Cllr Ley said he hoped that links between the two towns could continue, to the benefit of residents of both.

He said: "I was incredibly impressed by businesses and the activity around the town compared to our own town."

"With all the new development and industry, there is far more going

Warm welcome: Anne Gower, chairman of ONE Haverhill, with Cllr Ron Ley, Leader of Ilfracombe Town Council on than I had expected.

"I liked the look of the High Street with the mix of new and old. Talking to Anne Gower, I got a sense that the authorities work together. People are very positive and wanting to put Haverhill on the map and make it fit for purpose for the 21st century."

"We are a town with a 12,500 population, with areas of deprivation which are relatively high compared to the rest of Devon."

"It is a Victorian seaside town which has suffered tremendously from the loss of tourism."

"We are working on quite an ambitious, multi-agency project and we are on track for it to start in April next year. Seeing what people are doing in Haverhill shows you can really change things and give people control of their own destiny."

"It is not about politicians and ego, it is the residents who will benefit from this. I am sure that we will continue to work with Haverhill, so that we can learn from each other."

ONE Haverhill has identified two key areas of public funding with the Haverhill Community Budget to look at first – monies spent on improving the physical environment and opportunities for young people.

Walkers set for night out

WOMEN keen to reveal their inner goddesses are being urged to sign up for a fundraising walk taking place next week.

Already nearly 700 have signed up for the St Nicholas Hospice Care Girls Night Out walk in Bury St Edmunds on September 14.

Jenny Baskett, hospice events and challenges fundraiser, said: "The more women who take part, the merrier."

"Girls Night Out always has a fantastic atmosphere and it is a really enjoyable event. Many of the women who take part return year after year."

This year walkers can choose between 11.2-mile and six-mile routes around Bury St Edmunds – with extra pit stops along the way. Jenny said: "Last year our pit stops were manned by topless men, who handed out refreshments and snacks. They were such a hit with our walkers that we are delighted to be able to welcome the 'water boys' back again."

"We are also encouraging women to 'reveal their inner goddess' and dress in togas for the walk." For more information, contact Jenny Baskett on (01284) 715583 or email fundraisingteam@stnh.org.uk.

Haunting tale in the library

CELEBRATE Dickens' bicentennial at Cambridge Arts Theatre this autumn with a thrilling adaptation of The Haunting, starring David Robb, from award-winning Downton Abbey, and Coronation Street star, James Roache.

When a young book dealer, David Filde, is employed by a former associate of his uncle to catalogue an impressive library, he finds an incredible array of rare and antiquated books.

But as a series of strange and unexplained events conspire to keep Filde from his work, he realises that if he is to convince his sceptical employer that the mysterious phenomena he is experiencing are real, they must journey together to the very edge of terror, and beyond, to discover the source of the ghostly night-time visitations.

Regarded as the greatest novelist of all time, Charles Dickens' numerous iconic works include A Christmas Carol, Great Expectations, Nicholas Nickleby and Oliver Twist.

His works have been adapted for the stage and screen for decades and have won numerous awards.

David Robb's prolific career has spanned both stage and screen.

His credits include in Elizabeth: The Golden Age with Cate Blanchett, The Young Victoria with Emily Blunt and most recently multi award-winning Downton Abbey alongside Dame Maggie Smith.

His co-star, James Roache, will be making his stage debut after becoming a household name while appearing in Coronation Street as Ken Barlow's deceptive grandson.

■ The Haunting: Cambridge Arts Theatre from Monday to Saturday, September 15. Tickets £15/£20/£25/£30 (7.45pm each day and Saturday 2.30pm) and £15/£20/£25 (Thursday 2.30pm). All tickets subject to a £2.50 booking fee.

MUSIC AND MAYHEM: Past Half Remembered

FESTIVE TREAT: The DIY Nativity

Season of treats

FAMED for its showcasing of brand new material, The Junction has some treats in store as part of its autumn theatre programme.

The venue plays host to national companies Vincent Dance Theatre and Jasmin Vardimon Company, as well as inviting solo shows to the stage, including those by Silvia Rimat, Richard DeDomenici and Victoria Melody.

NIE, who brought us last year's Christmas show Hansel and Gretel, make a welcome return, as does Welsh wonder Hugh Hughes. There's lots for the family too, from French circus to storytelling by companies from around the UK.

From the company behind the family show Hansel and Gretel comes another show full of music and mayhem, but this time it's for adults. First shown in Cambridge in 2004, Past Half Remembered went on to smash-hit success in Edinburgh, London and New York and returns home to Cambridge on September 18, 4.30pm and 8.30pm, fresh from a festival tour to Japan. Performance maker Sylvia Rimat follows the aspirational and possibly impossible goal to present a show never to be forgotten by its audience members on October 10, 8pm.

I Guess if the Stage Exploded... draws on presence and sight, on what happens in our brain when we create memories, and our urge to be special and commemorated. Rut (October 16, 8pm) is the story of an ordinary man determined to be an extraordinary man during an explosive dance theatre experiment featuring two non-dancers who use storytelling, sound and movement to expand the space and activate the imagination. Inching its way through airbrushed beauty, boob jobs and Botox, victim-blaming, slut-shaming, the might of motherhood and the challenges of childlessness, Motherland (October 17, 8pm) is an entertaining and moving show about having it all.

Award-winning choreographer and associate artist of Sadler's Wells Jasmin Vardimon returns with the world premiere tour of her new work, Freedom, on November 1, 8pm.

To top it all off, the Christmas show will be The DIY Nativity, created by local favourite Bryony Kimmings and friends on various dates from December 9-30.

The big film

certificate 18, 1h55m

BASED on a true story, Lawless knocks back a drink with three brothers who become kings of their close-knit community by running moonshine across the state line.

Set in early 1930s Virginia and adapted from Matt Bondurant's novel The Wettest County In The World, Nick Cave's script corals its fair share of rootin' tootin' clichés to a fine bluegrass-tinged soundtrack.

In the mountains of Franklin County, local cops turn a blind eye to the illegal activities of Forrest Bondurant (Tom Hardy) and his siblings Howard (Jason Clarke) and Jack ( Shia LaBeauf).

The brothers run a successful bar and eke out a comfortable living by trading moonshine, made at secret stilleries maintained by Jack's disabled pal Cricket (Dane DeHaan).

But the business empire is threatened when sadistic Special Deputy Charley Rakes (Guy Pearce) arrives from Chicago on a mission to shut down the distilleries at the behest of district attorney Mason Wardell (Tim Tolin).

As young love blossoms between Jack and preacher's daughter Bertha Minnix (Mia Wasikowska), Rakes sets about dismantling the brothers' operation from the inside, targeting weak links including dancer Maggie Beauford (Jessica Chastain) who has recently taken up a position as a waitress at the bar.

For all its dramatic simplicity, John Hillcoat's film packs a hefty punch, exploring the bonds of trust that are tested to their limit when the bootleggers are pummeled senseless by the long arm of the law.

Hardy delivers a brooding central performance, maintaining his stoic hard man image around Chastain's emotionally battered love interest. However, it's Pearce who scorches as an obsessive-compulsive bully who hides behind his police badge.

Gary Oldman is underused in an eye-catching role as the suave mobster who Jack hopes to emulate.

LaBeauf's tender romance with Wasikowska sweetens Hillcoat's bitter pill but don't expect a happy ever after.

When these varmint strays beyond the point of forgiveness, death is the only absolution.

Shrubs to bring autumn glory

by Hannah Stephenson

AUTUMN is almost upon us – and as the seasons change, rich foliage and berries become the focus of attention for many gardeners.

While ornamental grasses and the daisy-like blooms of heleniums and rudbeckias continue to provide colour, it's important to have some shrubs in your border which will provide the link between the end of summer and the beginning of autumn and beyond.

Indeed, you don't need to have a huge garden with masses of trees to enjoy a good autumn show because shrubs can provide the rich foliage contrast, fragrance and berries to create plenty of interest.

Of course, the most important thing is to make sure that you choose shrubs which will be suited to your soil and situation. Acid lovers such as rhododendrons and camellias won't thrive in alkaline soil, so stick to the shrubs you know will thrive.

If in doubt, look at neighbouring gardens to see which shrubs are thriving, which will give you some clue as to what will do well in your own garden.

Workhorse shrubs include hydrangeas, which flower in late summer offering large blooms in shades of pink and blue before the flowerheads change colour to a rich straw-coloured hue, maintaining their shape as they dry beautifully on the stem.

The dried blooms can remain on the shrub throughout autumn and winter, providing a structural focal point in the cooler months when much else has died down, and protect the emerging leaves from frost damage in the depths of winter. They don't need clipping until the following spring.

For continual interest throughout autumn and beyond, I'd plump for mopheads such as H. m. Madame Emile Mouillere, which has white green-tinted blooms that flower freely from the end of summer and turn pink progressively through autumn.

and acid soil, so plant them in ericaceous compost.

One of my favourite shrubs is the castor oil palm Fatsia japonica, with its huge, deep green, tropical leaves all year round. It is among the toughest of specimens, growing in shade where nothing else will survive and it even bears greenish white flowers in the autumn, which stand out against the glassy, palmate leaves. Give it plenty of room because it grows to around 1.5m (5ft) high by 1.25m (4ft) wide.

Several autumn-flowering hebes are also worth including in the border, such as Autumn Glory, which at 60cm (2ft) x 60cm (2ft) is perfect for the front of the border, bearing purple flowers which withstand the elements and can flower almost up to Christmas. Hebes need a sunny spot and reasonably well-drained soil but are generally not fussy and don't need pruning.

Another autumn stalwart is the spindle bush (Euonymus alatus), a deciduous shrub known for its spectacular autumn colour, producing a crimson display of leaves. When the leaves drop, you can see corky flanges running up and down the stem which give the plant some winter interest as well.

If you want berries, of course there are many obvious candidates including cotoneaster, pyracantha and holly, but there are others, too, which will keep you in flowers, berries, scent and foliage all year.

Viburnum opulus, a compact 90cm (3ft) variety, bears white flowerheads in early summer and clusters of glassy red berries and red leaves in autumn.

Other shrubs with colourful autumn fruits include the Callicarpa bodinieri Profusion, which produces unusual purple berries, and Skimmia japonica Nymans, which bears bright red berries provided a male is planted next to a female for berry production.

Autumn colour shows up best with a solid dark background such as conifers and evergreen shrubs, so consider this when planning your planting.

Find 1000s of cars locally

Focus is world-beater

Young turn to parents

MANY young motorists now rely on their parents to fork out for their first car, according to a survey.

In the 1960s, around 80 per cent of first-time car owners funded their purchase themselves, according to the poll by insurance company Aviva.

But now around a third of first cars are paid for by someone else – most likely by mothers and fathers or other family members.

The recent reliance on the bank of mum and dad comes despite the fact that the average age for a first car purchase is now 25, compared with 21 in the 1960s.

But today's drivers are much more likely (26 per cent) to have a new car as their first motor than in the 1960s (8 per cent), when nearly everyone cut their motoring teeth on second-hand models.

In the 1960s, only 6 per cent of first-time car owners had their motor insurance paid for by someone else, while now the figure is 21 per cent.

The poll also showed that the most popular first car of the last 50 years was the Ford Escort, followed by Ford's Fiesta and Anglia.

Aviva marketing director

Short of options: So many young drivers turn to their parents.

Heather Smith says: "Owning a first car is a fantastic milestone of independence and provides an important rite of passage."

"In the past five decades, we have seen a fundamental shift in the typical first car owner."

"However, despite these changes, the nation's love for affordable classics, from Corsas to Golfs, Fords have stayed at the forefront in the history of the first car and feature as firm favourites across Britain's driveways."

These were the top 10 most first-car models:

1. Ford Escort
2. Ford Fiesta
3. Ford Anglia
4. Vauxhall Corsa
5. Nissan Micra
6. Vauxhall Viva
7. Morris Minor
8. Volkswagen Golf
9. Renault Clio
10. Mini Cooper

Top seller in first 6 months of year is the Ford Focus

THE Ford Focus is the world's best-selling single car nameplate in 2012, having outsold every other model of car in the first six months of the year.

Focus became the best-selling single car nameplate in the world, based on global data from IHS Automotive.

According to IHS Automotive, the Ford Focus sold 489,616 units in the first half of this year. The nearest competitor, the Toyota Corolla, sold 462,187.

The Focus also plays a key role in delivering a major Ford milestone today as a model produced at Rayong, Thailand, becomes the 350 millionth vehicle the company has produced in its history.

"Consider, for a moment, the enormity of 350 million vehicles," said John Fleming, Ford executive vice president of Global Manufacturing. "It's equivalent to producing one vehicle every 10 seconds for 109 years; and, if placed end to end, would stretch to the moon and back – twice."

The Ford Focus first appeared in Europe in 1998 and won the 1999 "Car of the Year" award. The current, third generation of the mid-size car – launched last year – was designed on an unprecedented global scale, helping to make more technologies and features economically viable than ever before for cars in this segment.

Key innovations in the new Focus include Active City Stop low-speed safety system, Active Park Assist, Lane Departure Warning, Lane Keeping Aid, Traffic Sign Recognition, Auto High Beam, Driver Alert and Adaptive Cruise Control.

In Europe the new Focus is available in 5-door, 4-door and estate versions. This year, Ford launched 250PS Focus ST, Ford's first global performance car, and in Europe began offering the Focus with the new 1.0-litre EcoBoost petrol engine, which was named the 2012 "International Engine of the Year" in June. A zero emissions Focus Electric, Ford's first ever all-electric passenger car, will be available in 2013.

Well done: Horseheath's Ben Piper is congratulated after taking a wicket at Histon.
Picture: Warren Gunn SP0855670

Lanceman can't hold back champs

PAUL Johnston and Jake Lawrence did the damage as Histon squeaked through by two wickets at home to Horseheath to seal the title and promotion to the Tucker Gardner Cambs & Hunts Premier League.

The visitors were in early difficulties on 4 for 3 – opener Dan Goldsmith went for a duck – and they were bowled out for 116 despite the efforts of Stephen Lanceman, who scored an unbeaten 55. Johnston and Lawrence were the main men with hauls of 3 for 11 and 3 for 12 respectively.

In reply, opener James Mynott went for a duck as Histon made a meal of their innings before Dave Poskitt hit 46 to help them to 117 for 8, Martin Giles taking 3 for 14.

■ A half-century from Cambridge NCI skipper Tom Griffiths gave his team a bit more breathing space at the top of Division Two as they saw off Weston Colville by 49 runs in Division Two of the Tucker Gardner Cambs & Hunts Premier League.

Opening the innings, Griffiths (52) and Peter Allcock (35) gave the home side a solid start, with Jake Allcock (31) and Alex Scully (22) also making useful contributions to the NCI total of 170.

Paul Dean (32), Adam Curtis (24), Joe Robins (29) and Adie Westley (25) all got starts for Weston Colville, but there was little support from their team-mates.

They were bowled out for 121 with Robert Taylor taking 5 for 61 for NCI.

Seconds best in title surge

HAVERHILL'S second team have completed their pre-season objective by topping Division Six of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship.

They take an unbeaten record into their final match of the season – at Braintree II on Saturday – after maintaining an uncatchable advantage over second-placed Ipswich III thanks to a hard-earned home win against Melton St Audrys.

Pinned down by Joey Kettle (3 for 49) and Martyn Wilkins (2 for 25), the visitors could only manage 118 for 6 with Dineen holding their innings together with 43.

Haverhill's response was less than straightforward. Sam Hartshorn made 21 of an opening stand of 32 with Phil Jones (27), who dominated a stand of 24 with Arvid Gundersen.

But 56 for 2 soon became 68 for 4 and it needed an unbeaten 23 from Bradford to get them across the line at 119 for 6.

Haverhill's first team put more distance between themselves and the Division One strugglers when they collected seven points from the four-wicket defeat at Frinton.

Haverhill, who travel to well-placed Mistley on Saturday, were all out for 181 with Frinton clinching victory at 182 for 6.

In Division 8W, Haverhill's third team picked up 20 points after Lakenheath II conceded. They travel to Battisford on Saturday.

Champions: West Wrating line up after their victory at the Aztecs tournament

CP

WEST Wrating's under-11s came out top in the Linton Aztecs tournament after avenging an early defeat in the group stages.

They saw off Burwell Tigers 2-0 but lost 2-1 to Teversham in their pool, going through to the semi-finals as runners-up. Goals from Finley Plant and a Jack Lisher penalty helped them see off Newmarket Town 2-1 and earn a rematch against Teversham in the final.

This time James Iron and Josh Lee wrapped up a 2-0 victory. ■ Wickhambrook under-17s maintained their unbeaten run as they completed their pre-season countdown with a comprehensive 9-3 win in the Barry Brewer Memorial Trophy match at Aztecs' fun day.

The game started at a frantic pace, James Percy netting the first of his six goals from the penalty spot after a defender had handled.

Wrating get their revenge

Wickhambrook were 3-1 up at the break – Percy and Tom Pinker putting them in the clear although Jack Whiting hit the post with a 20-yard drive – but the most spectacular goals came after half time.

Harry Willett twice flicked the ball over the Aztecs' central defender's head before lobbing the keeper to make it 4-1. Percy struck twice in as many minutes, and added another penalty before Ross Whiting drifted past several players before burying a low shot across the keeper into the far corner to make it 8-3. Percy completed the scoring from. Zak Ollington's pass.

Deadly Dan leads Rovers goal rampage

Cornard United 0
Haverhill Rovers 11

FA Vase, first qualifying round

DAN Cornwell slammed six goals as Haverhill Rovers put their poor league form behind them to go on the rampage at Blackhorse Lane.

The clash of the Thurlow Nunn League sides was over at half time, with Rovers easing into a 4-0 lead against the pointless First Division club after taking 20 minutes to break the deadlock.

Callum Harrison started the ball rolling with a spectacular strike, flicking the ball over an on-rushing defender and then acrobatically volleying home.

Ten minutes later Cornwell doubled the advantage on the half hour mark, Greg Strong pulling back Marc Abbot's cross to present the scorer with an open goal.

Harrison then intercepted a poor goal kick and played in Cornwell to make it 3-0, before the striker completed his first hat-trick from close range.

Cornard, however, were pulled apart after the break. Within minutes Jamie Challis put Cornwell in behind the defence to make it 5-0, and seconds later it was six when Cornwell's shot crept under keeper Barry Lynn.

Greg Strong hit the bar with a fierce volley before substitute Tom Holdstock set up Harrison for his second.

Ryan Henshaw fired home from the edge of the six-yard box, Cornwell added a penalty and Harrison completed his hat-trick with a deflected shot five minutes from time.

And Cornard's torment was completed when Harrison scored his fourth with a deflected shot following a Jack Higgs run.

D-day for Haverhill in cups challenge

SUNDAY will be a pivotal day in Haverhill's season. They are through to the later stages of their two major cup competitions. They contest the Tolly Cup final against Thorpeness, Eamonn Bareham's team heading to Felixstowe for the showdown. And attention will also be focused on the Stowmarket club where Haverhill's Curry Cup team play their semi-final against Colne Valley.

They progressed to the last four by finishing top of their group, despite losing their final match 13-5 at Fynn Valley. The other semi-final, Stowmarket v Benton Hall, will be staged at Coupsals Road.

■ The team of Marian Mercer, Sheila Price, Roger Corbett and Rob Viney came out on top at the Committee Golf Day, a stableford competition for teams of four organised by Haverhill's head pro, Paul Wilby. Twenty members of the club's nine committees took part in the tournament which was preceded by a two-hour coaching session. Mercer, Price, Corbett and Viney totalled 143 points, seeing off

Dave Pipe, Mick Couzens, Judy Farren and ladies' captain Doreen Darbey (135pts) and club president David Chapman, Karen Wilby, David Roope and Keith McCallum (129pts).

■ Mary Sail just edged out defending champion Karen Wilby to win the ladies' club championship.

And she completed the double by topping the handicap competition. Sail only took the scratch competition on countback after both she and Wilby both carded

180. Sail (92-88-180) and Wilby (91-89-180) finished well clear of third-placed Jackie Condon (95-92-187). Sail's nett score (76-72-148) earned the handicap honours ahead of Haverhill junior Nicole Pike (77-72-149) and Wilby (77-75-152). Rebecca Hazell, who joined the club a year ago, won the Pam Ratford Trophy after a superb nett round of 69 and has cut her handicap by five shots to 27. Ann Thompson was second with a nett 72 on countback from Gill Richardson. They have had their handicaps reduced by one and three shots respectively.

Winners: The top team at the Committee Golf Day.

Maclean's Rio dilemma

CAROLINE Maclean was full of pride after Great Britain women's wheelchair basketball team suffered quarter-final anguish against Germany on Tuesday.

The Haverhill-based No 4, who was on court alongside Stretham's Sarah Grady, could not prevent them losing 55-44.

"We can be proud of our performance against Germany," said Maclean.

"But we kind of repeated history because, in Beijing, we played Japan and they were top of their pool and we lost in the final couple of minutes. So I'm gutted it happened again.

"I thought it might be our day today, but unfortunately not.

"The young players have done really well and will have gotten used to what it is all about. They can only go upwards from here, hopefully for Rio.

"I'm not sure if I'll be a part of that squad. I'm hoping I will know exactly how I feel after London and I'll have a decision to make."

Great Britain pushed their opponents, who had topped their pool, for most of the match and led 41-40 with five minutes remaining at the North Greenwich Arena.

But a couple of two-pointers in quick succession gave the Germans the initiative, and they added another moments after a timeout called by Great Britain coach, Garry Peel.

A quick break down court resulted in a simple score for Edina Mueller and that sealed it, with a few more points being traded before the hooter sounded.

Grady scored four points, while Maclean picked up four fouls. Helen Freeman was the home side's top performer with 19 points.

However, the defeat is not the end of the tournament for Grady and Maclean. Great Britain take on China, again at the North Greenwich Arena, in a classification game later today (Thursday).

Earlier Great Britain were beaten 62-35 to the Netherlands and then 51-24 to Australia before they beat Brazil 42-37. They then lost 67-50 to Canada.
